

ARMY MEN WILL RESUME FLIGHTS AT COLLEGE PARK

Government Aviators Expect
a Busy Month Before
They Go South.

Flights by the Government aviators will be resumed at College Park Monday afternoon. Capt. Paul Beck and Lieutenants Milling, Arnold, and Kirtland will return from New York Sunday night, and will be ready for duty at the park.

Weather permitting, October will be a busy month at College Park. It will be the last month before the men leave for the South, before which they expect to make flights to Fort Myer, Annapolis, and Baltimore. They hope to do a lot of cross-country flying the coming month in order to get in practice for a hard campaign in the South. They want to get permission from the War Department to make a cross-country flight from College Park to the Southern headquarters, wherever it will be, but whether or not the Signal Corps will grant them this privilege will not be known for several weeks.

Grim Toll Is Reaped By Aviation Science In Last Three Years

Since Lieutenant Selfridge was killed at Fort Myer, Va., on September 17, 1908, by a fall in the Wright biplane, the toll of death in aviation has swiftly increased, and in just a bit over three years since then ninety-three flyers have been killed. With the death yesterday of Dr. C. B. Clarke, of Brooklyn, who was killed on Nassau boulevard, New York, by a fall with his Queens monoplane, the total lacks but six of reaching the century mark.

Sturdy men have been sacrificed in the mad scramble of the scientific world to master the mysterious art of flying. To this total the United States Government has given two men, Lieutenant Selfridge, who was killed at Fort Myer, and Lieut. George Kelly, who was crushed to death in a Curtiss machine at San Antonio. The Curtiss machine used at College Park, by Capt. Paul Beck is the same machine in which Lieutenant Kelly lost his life.

In 1908 only one life was lost, and that was Lieutenant Selfridge, who was the first man to be killed by a fall from a heavier-than-air machine. In 1909 the toll increased, four being killed. In 1910 thirty-five victims were taken. And in the first nine months of this year fifty-six have been killed.

France heads the list with forty-two victims, including a woman, Mme. Denis Moore, who fell at Etampes, France, July 21. Germany has lost eleven, while Italy and England each have lost seven; Russia and Spain have lost three each, while Hungary, Persia, Belgium, and Holland have lost one each. Prussia has lost four.

In America the list is as follows: Lieutenant Selfridge, Eugene Spyer, Ralph Johnstone, John B. Moisant, Arch Hoxey, Lieut. George E. M. Kelly, William G. Purvis, A. Hardie, William H. Baker, St. Croix Johnstone, John J. Friesbee, Frank H. Miller, Henry Chastellane, and Dr. C. B. Clarke.

America has given fourteen men. Among this number some were experienced aviators, while the others were novices. Ralph Johnstone, Arch Hoxey, and A. Hardie, St. Croix Johnstone, and John Friesbee were considered experts in the profession. The others were new in the game at the time of death.

AVIATION NOTES

Work on the waterworks system at the Army Aviation School is progressing nicely. All the hangars will be connected up soon to a large tank. A big pump will be put in a well and the tank will be filled from the well.

Lieut. Frank M. Kennedy will begin his instruction in learning to fly a Curtiss machine on Monday. Capt. Paul Beck, the veteran Curtiss flyer in the Government service, will begin teaching Lieut. Kennedy on Monday.

The two new hangars that are being built at College Park are almost completed. They are considerably larger than the four old buildings. They are large enough to house the biggest aeroplanes that are being built.

Capt. Charles DeForest Chandler, commanding officer of the army school, is now at Sandy Hook, where he is instructing a class in balloon ascensions. For five years Captain Chandler was one of the best balloon flyers in the Government service. He will return to the city about October 1.

There will be no flying at College Park this week except by the Schneider biplane. Joseph Richter will take this machine up this afternoon and tomorrow, if the atmosphere is not too cold.

Two Fined for Breaking Sanitary Regulations

A grocer and an oyster dealer, whose stores were not as cleanly as the health regulations require, forfeited collateral in District branch of Police Court yesterday. John Pidgey, who runs an oyster house on Park road, and Louis Rubin with a grocery store on Fenton street northwest, surrendered $5 and $5, respectively.

They failed to answer the charge of having unclean shelves and counters.

ECONOMY BOARD IS READY TO REPORT AFTER YEAR'S WORK

First Section of Findings
Will Go to President in December.

President Taft's once famed Economy and Efficiency Commission is about to return a report. It has been at work more than a year and has at last reached a point where it can propose some economies. The first section of the report will be given to the President about December 1.

This body was the result of a pet idea in the head of former Executive Secretary Charles D. Norton. Before Mr. Norton left the Treasury he had an insatiable appetite for economy and during the few weeks when Secretary MacVeagh turned the department over to him for the purpose of effecting some money-saving schemes, he almost reorganized the whole department. After leaving the Treasury, Mr. Norton's ambition to reform the Government took on a bigger phase. He told the President he could save the Government millions and was allowed to ask Congress for $200,000 to create a commission to work out the details. The commission was duly created and business begun.

For a time this body, with its clerks and stenographers, occupied quarters at the White House. They occupied about all of the Executive Offices not already given over to the President, the private secretary, and the executive clerks. They spread from one room to another until the Senators' and Congressmen's waiting room was filled, the general waiting room, the file room, and, at times, the Cabinet room. They seemed to be everywhere.

Then an event brought about the resignation of Mr. Norton and the succession of Secretary Hilges, the economy and efficiency commission seemed to become less important. One day this body was seen moving from the Executive Offices, bag and baggage. They were taking up less conspicuous quarters in one of the old buildings used by the War Department as an annex.

With this move the commission apparently dropped from view. Little was heard of its work, fewer conferences of department heads, bureau chiefs and chiefs of divisions were held. But the work had not been suspended. It was kept going and the commission, nearer and nearer, approached a report. Within two more months, anyway, its findings in part will be in the hands of the President.

Just what will be recommended is kept secret. Many jobs, of course, are involved in the report, many salaries will be regarded as too high, and many changes in accounting and bookkeeping will be proposed. But nothing of a definite nature can be learned of the recommendations.

Dr. Frederick A. Cleveland is chairman of the commission, and is drawing $10,000 a year for his work. William F. Willoughby, former assistant director of the Census; W. W. Warwick, Frank J. Goodnow, of Columbia University, and Harvey S. Chase, of Boston, compose the board. Merritt O. Chance is secretary. The commissioners' salaries range from $5,000 to $8,000 a year.

Writer in Munsey's Shows Our Progress

"What we need is the development of a South American market for manufactures," writes Judson C. Welliver in Munsey's for October. "We are making some progress, but it is not creditable. Think of the fact that in 1910 we bought $103,716,000 worth of goods from Brazil—the lion's share of course, being coffee and rubber—and sold that country only $24,988,000 worth of all products! We bought $23,381,000 from Chile, and sold her only $8,391,000. From the ten significant South American countries we bought that year $158,061,000 worth, while we sold them only $67,714,000."

HOW TO SUCCEED

During the last few years, conditions in all lines of business, even professional life, have changed so completely that every man is waking up to the fact that in order to win success he must specialize and learn to do some one thing and do it well.

So it is with any article that is sold to the people. It must have genuine merit or no amount of advertising will maintain the demand for the article. For many years we have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy. From the very beginning the proprietors had so much confidence in it that they invited every one to test it, free of cost, before purchasing.

It is a physician's prescription. They have on file thousands of letters received from former sufferers who are now enjoying good health as a result of its use. However, if you wish first to try a sample bottle, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention this paper. They will gladly forward you a sample bottle by mail, absolutely free. Regular sizes for sale at all druggists fifty cents and one dollar.
